

<https://www.dwell.com/>

In Mexico's warm climate, the best homes create a strong relationship with the outdoors.

Get ready for summer by dreaming about these 10 homes in Mexico that offer the indoor/outdoor lifestyle that's so coveted during these seasons—offering long days and endless sunshine for the homeowners who don't even have to leave their properties.

Casa Meztitla

This retreat for two by Mexican architecture group EDAA flawlessly meshes with its surroundings in an elegant response to the landscape formed by native Tepoztecos over 500 years ago.

Photo courtesy of EDAA and Gessato

Photo Categories: outdoor trees, grass