About the project
Taxco 25 is a contemporary housing proposal that dialogues with neighborhood life and its different expressions of traditional architecture. Its design refers to the clarity of lines and volumes that the functionalist-style cataloged house from 1940 possesses on which the project rests, promoting its updating and redefinition in Mexico City. Located in the Roma Sur neighborhood of Mexico City, the intervention consisted of vegetating and pedestrianizing the corridor that connects the street with the interior of the property, as well as building 4 new houses, terraces and garden roofs.
